Product design

The furniture ready for purchase is the last step of a creative and industrial process that starts from an idea conceived by entrepreneurs, architects, designers and contractors. It passes through hand-sketching and virtual modelling up to the prototyping and industrialization of the furniture item itself.

The steps of product design:

- 01 ● Sketch on paper
- 02 ● 2D - 3D modelling
- 03 ● Prototyping: After checking and completing all the previous steps, the prototype, on which further checks will be carried out, is ready to be put into production. As for research, concept and modeling steps, prototyping also includes large test to make the item ready for industrialization
- 04 ● The initial idea has become a sketch, it has evolved into a two-dimensional image, a 3D model and turned into a prototype ready for large-scale production. A new piece of furniture is ready to enter the market.

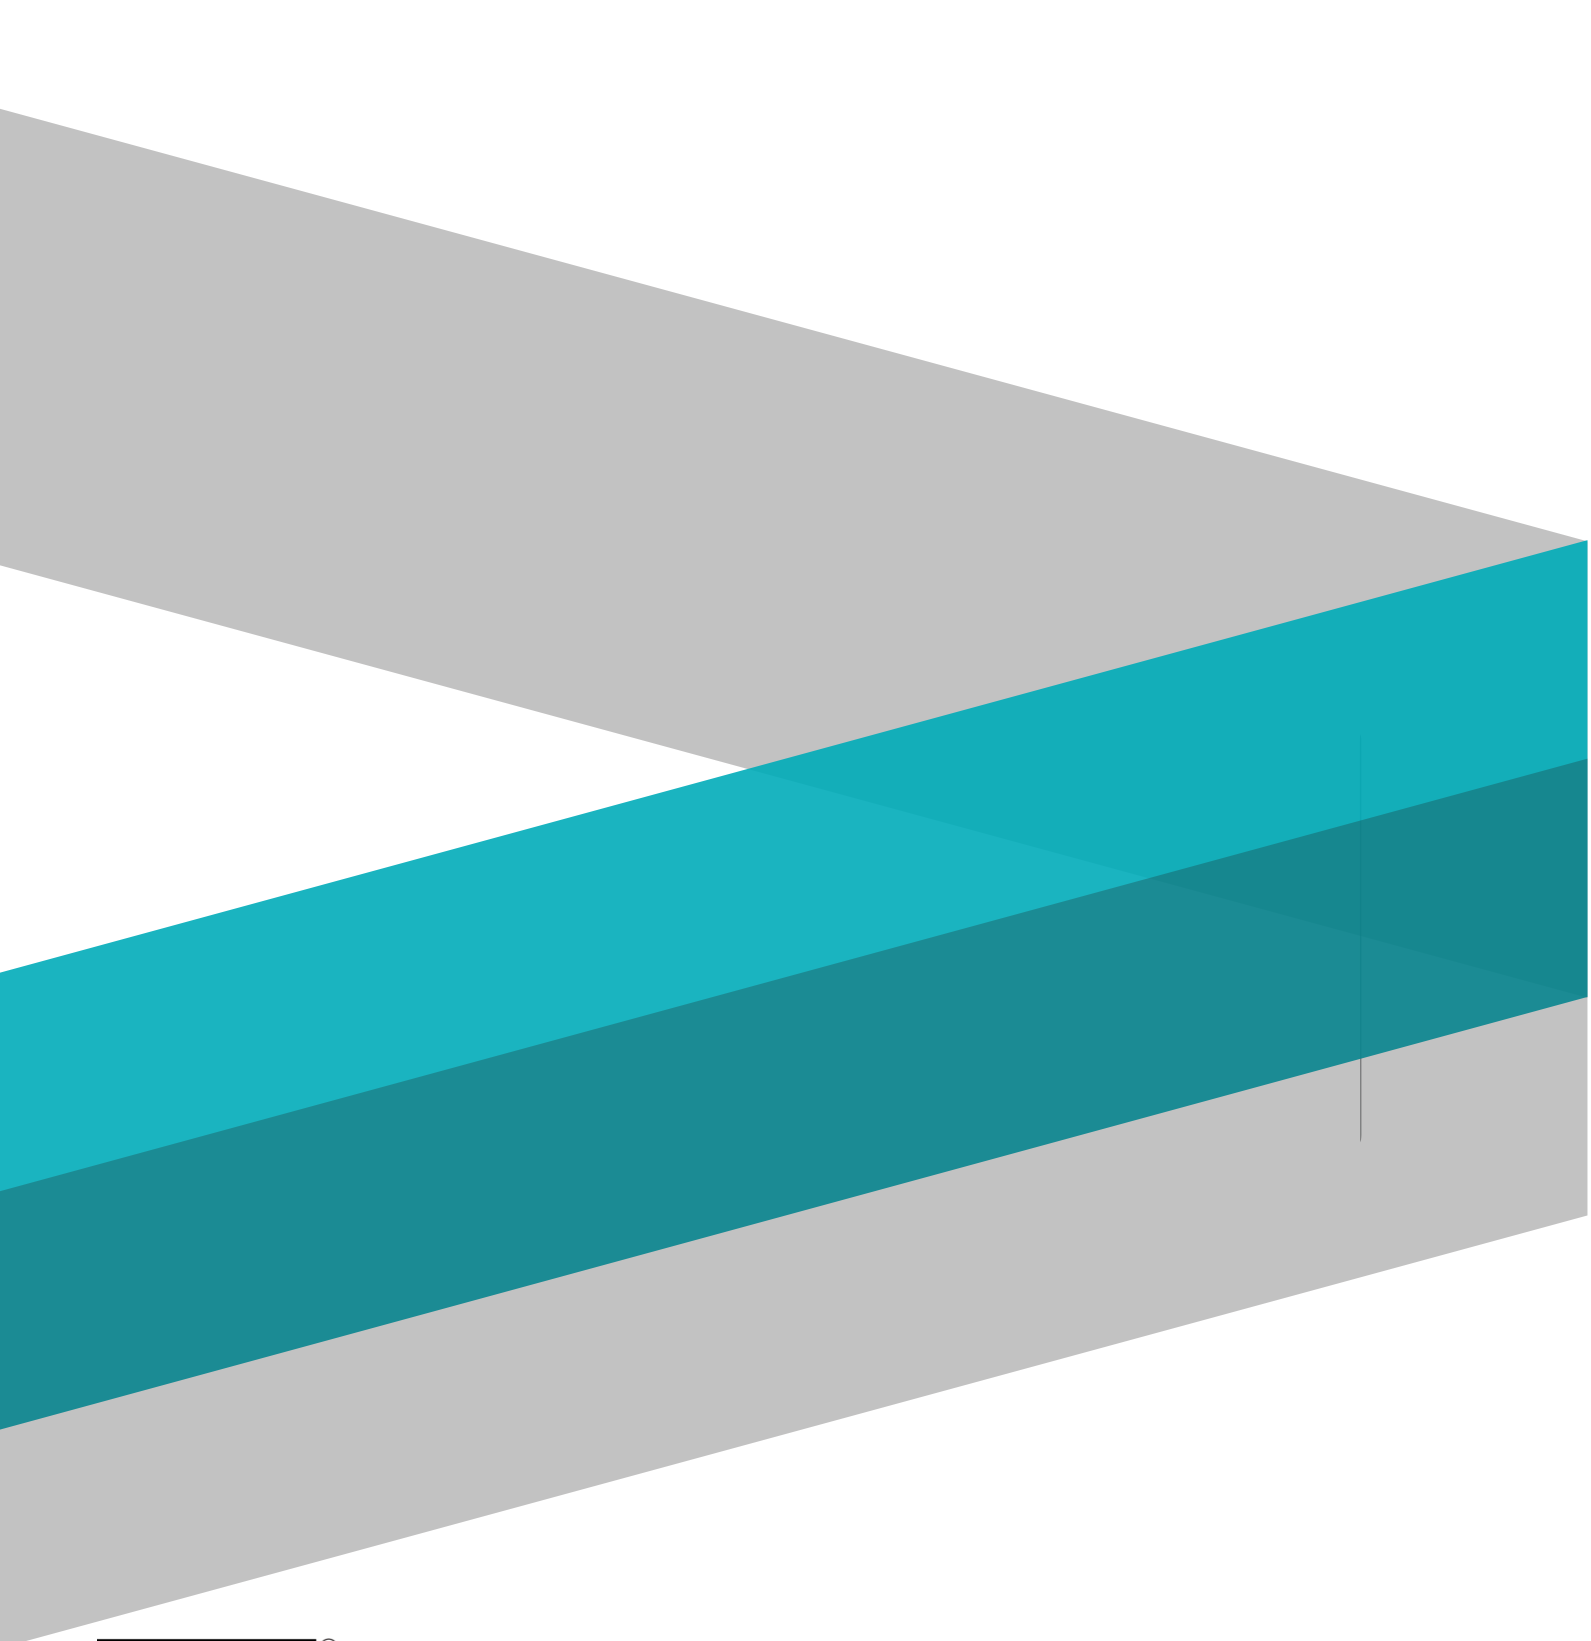

Sustainability

New path of Sintesi include ethical choices in materials and production processes.

Sintesi products are made of wood, steel, leather, non-toxic and hypoallergenic technopolymers, i.e. easily recyclable and recoverable materials that are not subject to rapid obsolescence. All items are easy to assemble and disassemble, designed for B2B and B2C users looking for pieces of furniture with an attentive and functional design.

Sintesi's commitment in reducing its impact on the environment is a core strategic vision. We are more than ever convinced that quality products can really make the difference in the environmental impact.
